When I first saw this coloring book, it reminded me of a poster in the church I attended when, as a young adult, I first became a Christian many years ago. The poster was a real testament to me because it listed all of the names of God. I remember sitting in Bible Study and contemplating those names and trying to understand His infinite presence. Fast forward more years than I care to remember and I get the same feeling when I am coloring in this book. There aren't that many coloring books I have that I know beyond a shadow of a doubt that I will color each and every page. This is one of those books. It goes beyond coloring for me and speaks to my spirit. The artwork is a combined effort of three artist (Nicole Wallace, Chris Dugan and Terry Dugan.) Their publishing name is Marie Michaels. Each of the designs has a name of God as the central focus. Along with that is translation of what the particular name means (examples: El Olam â “ The everlasting God, Adonai â “ Lord and Master, and Alpha and Omega â “ the Beginning and the End), a Bible verse and cite, and finally an illustration that ties all of it together. The illustrations range from flowers to geometric and are fun and fairly easy to color. The translations used in this coloring book are: New American Standard Bible, New King James Version, Holy Bible New International Version (NIV), and the Holy Bible New Living Translation. The designs are printed on one side of medium weight, perforated paper. The binding is glued, All of the designs either have a framing line around the outside or have finished elements. I really appreciate the care the artist takes by doing this. It saves me time, trouble, and ink. It also gives me a natural stopping point which gives my projects a better overall appearance.
